Roland Corporation (the “Company”), upon consideration of recent performance trends and the reversal of deferred tax assets announced on January 31, 2013, hereby announces the revision of its forecast of consolidated financial results for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2013 announced on November 7, 2012, as detailed below.

2. Reasons for Revision

In the Electronic Musical Instruments Business, the Company estimates that net sales and operating income will be lower than previously forecasted, due to stagnant sales of digital pianos and other instruments since the third quarter in Japan, as well as the effects of the recession in Europe.

In the Computer Peripherals Business, the Company estimates that net sales and operating income will be lower than previously forecasted, due to the change in sales network in Korea, the slowdown of the economy and intensified competition in China, and the economic slump in Europe.

As a result of the decrease in operating income from these two businesses, as well as the reversal of deferred assets of ¥0.5 billion recorded in the third quarter and extraordinary loss accompanying structural reforms exceeding initial forecast by ¥0.2 billion, the Company ultimately expects to post a net loss of ¥4.0 billion, which represents a ¥1.8 billion decline in profits from the previous forecast.
